Residents Invited to provide Input on the Draft Active Transportation Plan in East Wellington and Pleasant Valley

The Regional District of Nanaimo (RDN) is seeking input on the draft Active Transportation Network Plan (the plan) for East Wellington and Pleasant Valley in Electoral Area C. The plan identifies opportunities to improve infrastructure that supports walking, cycling and other active transportation modes. The plan guides the development of a comprehensive network in the East Wellington and Pleasant Valley areas and strengthens connections to broader regional and provincial active transportation routes.

Specifically, the benefits of an active transportation network include:

- Safer Routes - Improve safety for walking, biking and rolling
- Better Connections - Link homes to schools, parks, businesses and services
- Climate Action - Support low-carbon travel and healthy lifestyles
- Funding Opportunities - Position the community for provincial and federal infrastructure grant funding

Residents are invited to review the draft network plan and recommendations and share feedback to help refine and finalize the plan. Residents can participate by providing their input through an online survey, attending the open house and asking questions through the project webpage.
